

61. The Boppard Faces

We need your help!

Please take part in our experiment.

There are over 44 faces in the Burrell Collection Boppard panels, and all display a uniformly consistent style of painting, suggesting that all the panels were painted by the same artist. In the context of the stories displayed in the panels it is easy to discern who is who and the baddies from the goodies. But can you do it from the character of the face alone?

Fill in the form on the right and post it in the box below.

If you prefer, you can do this online by following the link from the boppardconservationproject.wordpress.com Faces blog.

We have cut out 44 of the faces (some are in armour so little of their face is visible) and reoriented them to a standard format. Tick the number of each face you think is a baddie (an evil one). Also, enter the number of each face you can identify as representing God (2 images), Jesus (3 images), Mary (3 images) and the devil (1 image).

The results in the first blog in June.

Here are the faces:

